PRODUCT SPOTLIGHT

LP5615 OIL PUMP

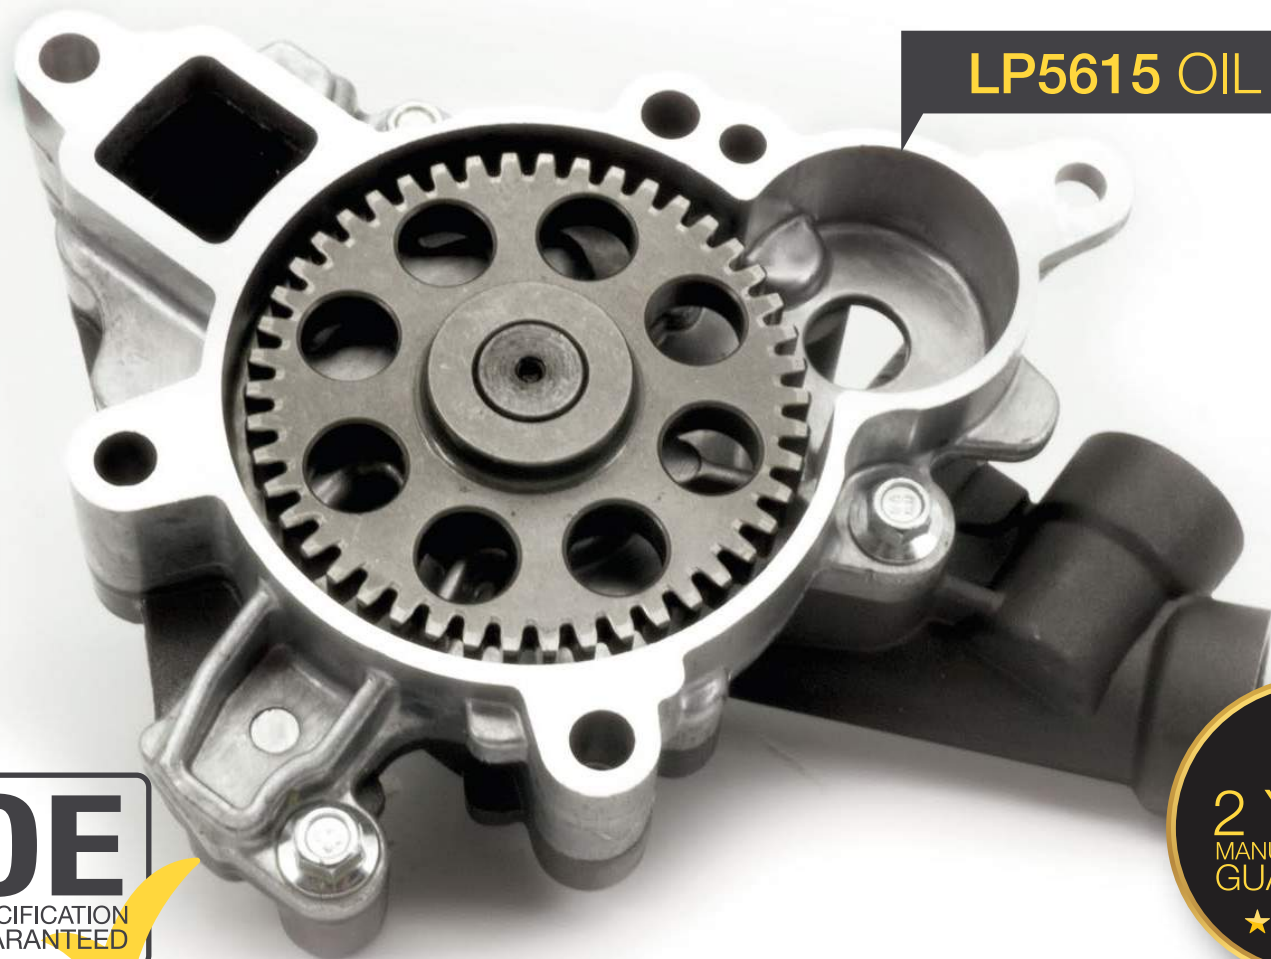

OE: A2711800801 - Fits the popular
MERCEDES-BENZ applications.

What goes wrong?

Taking user error out of consideration (Oil starvation), Oil Pumps tend to fail due to debris getting into the pump which increases the wear and shortens the life of expectancy of the part, requiring a replacement.

Oil Pumps can also fail from contaminated oil, which blocks the oil strainer and also starves the pump of Oil. This is one of the most common found cases when dealing with an Oil Pump replacement on the M271 engine.

HEAR FROM THE MECHANIC!

Servicing cars almost every day, i would recommend replacing at least the sump plug washer every time you change the Oil. I actually replace the sump plug out of courtesy so the next mechanic has a fresh head on the bolt to take off... I hope other mechanics would do the same for me! Certain sump plugs have allen key heads which can become problematic over time.

Example of the plugs you can stock:

BGA'S HERITAGE DATES BACK TO 1929...

Celebrating 90+ years of OE manufacturing heritage!

4BG Group are celebrating 90 years of manufacturing OE plastics, engine parts, mouldings and bespoke sealing products this year.

One of the first vehicles 4BG supplied OE parts to was the eminent Ford Model T!

90 Years later, 4BG continue to hold the spot as a prominent manufacturer in the automotive industry, supplying parts to over 40 well-known OE brands.

This includes the new Land Rover Discovery 5 being rolled off the production lines today.
